

WILL GIVE THE PACKERS TIME

NEW JERSEY THINKS THEY'LL ALL SHOW UP WHEN WANTED.

Prosecutor Garven Said to Have the Word of Their New Jersey Counsel to That Effect—More Reasons Are to Be Called For—No Politics in the Move.

There will not be any undue haste on the part of the Hudson county, N. J., Prosecutor's office in starting the legal machinery in motion to compel the twenty-five directors of beef packing concerns and the six defendant corporations to appear at the Court House in Jersey City to plead to the indictment, handed up by the December Grand Jury on Friday afternoon, which charges them with corruptly combining to store up and limit the market supply of meat, poultry and other foodstuffs in order to produce an artificial scarcity in Hudson county and to boost the price of these commodities.

It was announced yesterday that Prosecutor Pierre P. Garven, who engineered the investigation, proposes to rest on his own a while and give the defendants a reasonable period in which to journey voluntarily to Jersey City and surrender themselves. This decision, it was said, was reached after telephone messages had been received by New Jersey lawyers retained to look out for the defendants, that the clients would be within jurisdiction of the court when they were wanted.

One of the messages came from ex-Senate Senator Robert S. Hudspeth of Jersey City, counsel for James E. Bathman, Jr., the only Jerseyman in the distinguished list of indicted ones. Mr. Bathman is a member of the firm of Bathman, Van Wagenen & Co. of 30 Pine street, Newark, and lives at 25 Berkeley avenue, Orange. Mr. Hudspeth said that his client would be in Jersey City at any time he was wanted.

It was said that other lawyers had given the Prosecutor's office similar assurances that their clients would voluntarily submit themselves to the jurisdiction of the court provided there was given to them a reasonable time in which to appear.

If the Prosecutor is not obliged to have capias issued for the arrest of the defendants and is not compelled to institute and prosecute extradition proceedings, the preliminary expense of the cold storage inquiry to Hudson county will be comparatively light. Thus far the bulk of the investigating has been done by the Prosecutor's salaried subordinates.

Prosecutor Garven notified Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swazy on Friday night that he will make application to him in the near future for an order directing the production of certain records of the National Packing Company which he wants in his investigation. Officers of the Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey, the New Jersey agent of the company, were subpoenaed to produce minutes of directors' and stockholders' meetings before the Grand Jury, but only the stock and transfer books were handed in. It was claimed by the witnesses that these are the only records which the Corporation Trust Company is compelled to keep for the packing company at its office under the corporation laws of the State. Justice Swazy will sit in the Supreme Court at Trenton next week and the Prosecutor may make his application there. In case an order is made and not complied with then Mr. Garven would be in a position to start proceedings looking to the dissolution of the company as a Jersey corporation and it would be obliged to reorganize elsewhere.

Among the New Jersey lawyers who have been retained to defend the packers are Richard V. Lindabury of Lindabury, Dupont & Faulkner of Newark; Hartshorne, Bailey & Leake of Jersey City; Collins & Corbin of Jersey City and Vredenburg, Wall & Carey of Jersey City.

Former Assistant Prosecutor of the State Joseph N. Noonan, who drew up the indictment with the assistance of Judge James F. Clark of the New North Hudson District Court, who is clerk to the Grand Jury, and a Prosecutor Garven and Assistant Prosecutors George T. Vickers and James W. McCarthy in the preparation of the cases for trial and in the actual trial of the cases.

Jerseymen who are pleased because the Prosecutor is making trouble for the packers and cold storage men say there is absolutely no politics in his move, because the Prosecutor is a regular organization Republican and the majority of the Grand Jurors are Democrats, having been drawn by James J. Kelly, the Democratic Sheriff. They also "point with pride" to the fact that the Prosecutor was once an attorney for the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Mr. Garven was born at the Kill Van Kill end of Hudson county thirty-eight years ago. His parents were poor and in his early boyhood he sold papers and worked in a grocery store after school hours in Roselle, N. J. S. M. Williams, then a vice-president of the Jersey Central Railroad, in the youth, and gave him a place in the auditing department of the road. Garven studied law in his spare moments and was later transferred to the railroad's law department. He was subsequently admitted to the New York and New Jersey bars.

He broke into the Republican political arena as a candidate for mayor of Bayonne in 1903 at a time when the city was considered to be safely Democratic. He came within a few hundred votes (on the face of the returns) of being elected mayor. He was very general for a long time after that he really had a substantial majority. He went into the battle a second time in 1906 and was elected for a term of two years. He was re-elected in 1907 and in the following year Gov. J. Franklin Ford appointed him Prosecutor of the Pleas of Hudson county to succeed Judge William H. Speer, who had been elevated to the Circuit Court bench. Mr. Garven gave up his job as railroad attorney to become Prosecutor, but he did not resign as Mayor, serving until the expiration of his term on December 31 last.

Last year Mr. Garven decided as Mayor of Bayonne that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was not paying its fair share of taxes to the city, and Henry Hines, then treasurer, was instructed to do some boosting. Hines jumped the assessed valuations on the oil company's holdings from approximately $7,000,000 to $12,000,000 and the company appealed to the County Tax Board for a reduction. In the meantime the Republicans were swept out of power in Bayonne and the new Democratic administration entered into a compromise with the oil company, fixing the company's assessment at $7,500,000. The County Tax Board would up the appeal proceedings by reopening the assessed valuations to this figure. The company is now paying taxes on an increased valuation of $12,000,000 as the result of Garven's and Hines' jacking up process.

Mr. Garven is fond of athletic sports. He was president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey Athletic Association and was a member of the Central Building baseball club, composed of employees in the Jersey Central's main New York games. He still keeps his hand in on the diamond and almost invariably car-

MEAT PACKERS MAY BE CALLED

TO TELL IF THEY HAVE CONSPIRED TO RAISE PRICES.

Senate Committee Investigating High Cost of Living Has Decided on the Scope of the Inquiry, Which Includes the Effect of the Tariff on Prices.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—A bitter contest in sight as a result of the indictment of Chicago packers in the East. Those who were indicted in New Jersey yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to raise the price of meats will refuse to go to New Jersey to answer to the charges, and if extradition is sought they will fight. The indicted men will contend that having not been in New Jersey when the alleged offense was committed they are not fugitives from justice and hence are not extraditable.

An attorney for one of the biggest packing firms in Chicago said to-day: "That prosecution, while prompted by good motives and conscientiously carried on, is on the face of it absurd. Some of the companies indicted have no storage houses there. The men indicted have not been in New Jersey to conspire and the Grand Jury charge says they conspired there. If Mr. Garven sends men here with capias, as I have been told despatches from there to-day said he would, the packers will not accept service."

Then the New Jersey authorities can only try for extradition. They must appeal to their Governor and show sufficient excuse for warranting an extradition request to Gov. Denen. "I'll fight that through our New York attorneys. Then, if they are successful, they must show Gov. Denen that the offense is extraditable, that it is based on sufficient merit to warrant it. The Governor can practically try the case, and we will see at least that some merit in our contention is shown."

Granting that Gov. Denen allows a warrant for the packers, under the Illinois personal liberty act we will demand opportunity to sue out a writ of habeas corpus and again find out just what there is back of the prosecution."

CAUSE OF HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Secretary Nagel Believes Much Is Due to Short Weights and Measures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor, in addressing a conference of dealers of weights and measures to-day, gave it as his opinion that the present high cost of living is in a measure due to short weight packages.

"I have no doubt," said the Secretary, "that there are many explanations for the high cost of living. Some of them may be charged to pure waste, others may be charged to the greater abundance of gold, still others to combinations, but I believe—and I imagine many of you believe—that short measures have much to do with the cost of living to-day. A good doctor does not need many symptoms to diagnose a case. If he has a good case he knows what his verdict will be, and when I find in buying a bottle of wine that the shape of the bottle is just what I need of it, I know just exactly what people are capable of doing. When I know that large concerns have to change their description from 'pint' to 'half bottle' I know why they do it. One has a distinct measure and the other is left to the imagination. It is so with the trade; you all know about it and I need not tell you."

The Secretary advocated cooperation between the Federal Government and the States in the enforcement of the law should be properly branded as to weight and measures.

Dealers of weights and measures from all thirty States attended the conference. It was brought out in the day's discussion that many kinds of food originally packed in standard quantities and sold at a certain price, are now sold in packages which in many instances contain only one-half or three-quarters of what they originally did.

Dr. Rejehmann said, were not measures but were used as such. Others which he exhibited had false bottoms and others had been cut down and made smaller. Some of the spring scales which he exhibited had a movable face by the manipulation of which the buyer would be cheated almost at any time.

The conference adopted a resolution urging upon Congress the passage of a law which shall compel manufacturers of all package goods to print upon the outside of their packages a statement of the net contents in units of weight or measure.

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN.

Man Who Finished Prison Term Two Weeks Ago Qualifies for Another.

DETROIT, Feb. 26.—The Central Office arrested Samuel Walish of 171 East Ninety-first street yesterday morning after a chase in which the detective's whistle made a flying tackle which resulted in Walish's capture. Walish got out of the Tombs last week after serving two months sentence. Horton and his side partner, Lander, have been watching him closely since then, for Walish has a long record of convictions against him.

Yesterday morning, after having followed Walish and David Jacobs of 110 Lewis street for more than an hour the detectives rounded them up just as they were taking a job of relieving George Muir, a driver for the United States Express Company, of a bundle containing three bolts of silk, valued at more than $100, which Muir had just received from the firm of Victor & Achelis, at 95 Spring street. Muir was checking up the packages he had received from the silk merchant before loading them on his wagon. The two men became interested in the process. Then their interest waned and they passed on. Muir discovered that a package of silk was missing. He cries were answered by detectives, who caught the men with the goods.

Magistrate Corrigan held Walish and Jacobs in $2,000 bail each for a further examination next Tuesday.

KILLED IN LANDSLIDE.

Laborer Smothered While at Work on Municipal Building Foundations.

Ten feet of sand caved in while laborers were digging in the foundations for the new municipal building at Park Row and Chambers street yesterday afternoon, and Antonio Quarato of 229 Mulberry street was caught underneath and smothered to death. A wagon that was being loaded was also covered, but the horses and four men escaped.

P. Conti of 89 Bayard street, the foreman, was arrested and held by Coroner Holzhauer in $1,000 bail pending the inquest.

STANDARD GETS MORE OIL.

$2,000,000 Fields in Oklahoma Bought From the Pittsburg Operators.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—Jennings Bros. and the Kanawha Oil Company of Pittsburg have sold their producing oil properties in Oklahoma to the Standard Oil and Gas Company for $2,000,000. The property consists of 14,000 acres of leases on which are 414 producing wells with a net production of 55,375 barrels of oil a day. The Standard is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company.

MEAT PACKERS MAY BE CALLED

TO TELL IF THEY HAVE CONSPIRED TO RAISE PRICES.

Senate Committee Investigating High Cost of Living Has Decided on the Scope of the Inquiry, Which Includes the Effect of the Tariff on Prices.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The meat packers, who are having their troubles in Federal and State courts, will in all probability have the opportunity of explaining to the Senate committee that is undertaking an investigation of high cost of living the charges that they have conspired to raise artificially the prices of meat products to consumers. The Senate committee decided at a meeting to-day to include within the scope of the investigation an inquiry into the effect of combinations on the prices of commodities. The suggestion was advanced that the meat packers should be among the first witnesses summoned before the committee and it met with the immediate approval of several Senators. A member of the committee said:

"The committee has authority to send for the executive and responsible officials in the beef trust and I shall move that they be summoned to appear before the committee and testify. We don't want any of the underlings to appear before us, but the men who are responsible for the alleged combination that has resulted in increased prices of meat products."

At the meeting to-day the committee framed lines for the conduct of the general inquiry. The subjects to be covered were gone over and agreed upon. These will be submitted to the Government departments with the request that all information pertaining to the subjects mentioned be placed at the disposal of the committee. Until this information is obtained there will be no definite decision as to the witnesses who will be invited before the committee.

In addition to its decision to inquire into the effect of combinations on the prices of commodities the committee also agreed to make an investigation of the effect of the cold storage plants upon prices and their methods of doing business.

In the investigation of the prices of food products the inquiry will begin at the farm and extend to the wholesaler and retailer, showing as far as possible the prices by retail from the point of production to the price of manufactured articles the inquiry will begin at the factory and will also cover the wholesale and retail business.

As to wool, hides, leather, lumber, coal, iron, steel, oil, brick, cement and farming implements the inquiry will be devoted to a critical study of the point of production, the wholesale price and the retail price. The committee decided also to investigate any effect the tariff may have had on the domestic price of commodities. The prices and the market prices of all imported articles mentioned in the tariff in April, 1909, were obtained and compared with the invoice prices and the market prices at the present time. Foreign and wholesale prices as far back as 1900 up to and including the present year also will be included in the comparison.

The other subjects into which the committee decided to make inquiry are: Wages and salaries at home and abroad by years from 1900 to 1910; the production of gold and the relations to gold coinage both in the United States and in the world by years from 1907 to the present time; world's prices of commodities by years from 1907 to the present time; the tabulation of all information possible from the United States consular reports, the reports of the British Board of Trade and the statistics to the gold and silver countries, the journal of the Royal Statistical Society, the London Economist and the London Statist and other journals of similar character. The committee will also give statistics as to wages and prices by years from 1907 to 1910.

If the packers are summoned to appear before the committee they will be compelled to answer all questions. This matter was discussed at the first meeting of the committee, and the chairman, Senator Lodge, called during the sugar investigation a witness was sent to jail for three months for refusing to answer questions.

NOT IN STATE POLITICS.

Gaynor Says He Is Accepting an Invitation to Speak in Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Mayor Gaynor of New York is to be guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of this city early in March. The date is not definitely set. The acceptance came to President Thomas Macdonald of the chamber this morning in a letter in which the Mayor urges that no political meaning be attached to his coming. His letter says:

"DEAR MR. MACDONALD: Although a thousand things press me here I have concluded to address the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce as you request. Please fix the day, and the earlier the better. I thank you very much for the kind sentiments which you express to me in your letter. Please let me know the date at the earliest possible moment. Let no one attach any disposition on my part to meddle in State politics from the fact that I accept your invitation; two years ago I made a similar address to the Chamber of Commerce of Utica with Gov. Hughes."

MODEL AEROPLANE MATCHES.

Elimination Contest for the Octave Chanute Cup on Thursday.

There will be an elimination model aeroplane contest next Thursday evening at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory to select a team of three to compete for the Octave Chanute national flying machine challenge cup offered under the auspices of the Aero Club Society.

The rules call for model weighing not less than one pound and not more than ten pounds. Any club or organization may enter any number of teams, but only one team may qualify at this meet. The first three contests will be held in New York in April, after which events will be held every three months. The event whose team makes the best average out of three flights with each machine will be declared the winner in accordance with the rules. The trophy goes to the club winning it three times in succession until won by another club.

"Straus" Cut Glass

The shop where "Straus" Cut Glass is produced is accessible to everybody. It's on the eighth floor, and we are always glad to have visitors go there and watch the different processes that change the flat surfaces of the "blanks" into faceted decorations flashing with brilliant color-plays. The cuttings, deep but never coarse, carry out patterns that accord with popular taste—fan, star, diamond, hob-nail, medallion, chrysanthemum, lotus and many other designs.

Every piece of "Straus" Cut Glass denotes care and thought, and skill, and as makers of it we can, of course, sell it for much less than other retailers, who must pay a profit to manufacturers.
